Warranty

PlayKote EPDM

PlayKote EPDM (ethylene propylene diene monomer) rubber crumb when installed according to manufacturer's instructions and when properly maintained is warranted for a period of 3 years against extreme colour fading of the product as mentioned below. The warranty does not cover the normal wear and tear of the product and does not include the whole installed system, which is the installing companies responsibility.

In a warranty case, Australian Surfacing Supplies will provide replacement materials at no charge. Therefore, the defective parts must be returned with all transportation charges prepaid by the owner to Australian Surfacing Supplies for further analysis. Australian Surfacing Supplies reserves the right to decline a warranty case if the underlying reasons are not due to defects in material.

It is the owner's responsibility to establish that the product was installed according to installer's instructions and that the product was cleaned and handled properly. This warranty does not cover any labour or other service charges incurred, or any parts not manufactured by Australian Surfacing Supplies.

Please note, under Australia's extreme UV conditions all EPDM will fade to varying degrees.
